

Where there is a Will there is a Way:

A man dies and is standing outside the Pearly Gates waiting to see St. Peter. His name is Bill.

As you would expect there is a special line for Texans.

Bill says to a man named Frank who is ahead of him, "I sure hope my wife will be alright."

Frank turns around and asks Bill, "What do you mean?"

Bill tells him he is worried about his wife being alright without him. Bill told him the house was paid for and they had saved up around $50,000.00 together but he was still just concerned for her.

Frank asked Bill if he prepared a Will before his departure.

Bill said he had not.

Frank asked Bill if he had any other kids outside his marriage.

Bill told him he had one daughter who hated him and who was in jail for burglary.

Frank said, "Well then the State of Texas will see to what your wife will get." He then turned back around to face the front of the line.

Bill was consumed with curiosity and tapped Frank on the shoulder and asked him to explain what he meant.

Frank said since he had a child outside the marriage the child would get half of the house and half of the money Bill and his wife had saved up.

Bill said that was horrible. He said his wife and him had worked the last 10 years paying off the house and putting some money back in case something happened.

Frank said, “Well Bill, where there is a Will there is a way, and without a Will your property gets distributed by what the politicians say.”

Bill stood in the line just trembling and sick with worry. He wondered how his wife would manage with losing half the house and half the money they had saved.

Bill was so upset that he had left his wife in that position. How could he be so foolish?

Bill watched Frank pass through the Gates.

Frank turned around and said, “Bill, it’s never too late.” then Frank was gone.

Bill was then standing before St. Peter. St. Peter asked Bill if he had arranged his affairs so that his family was provided for.

Bill answered he thought he had but Frank showed him he actually had not.

St. Peter frowned and told Bill to step aside to let those who acted responsible for their families pass by. St. Peter told Bill he would be taken to another Gate.

Bill awoke sweating and trembling. He turned to see his lovely wife beside him sound asleep.

The Good News is Bill got a chance to take the proper steps to protect his family before something terrible happened to him, hopefully you will too.
